MESSAGE

Greetings to all members of the Civil Defence and Home Guards fraternity and their families, on the occasion of the 62nd Annual Day.

Civil Defence and Home Guards have been the cornerstone of community-centric disaster response and security preparedness in India. Serving the nation with dedication and commitment, they have set a new benchmark in service – particularly during crises and emergencies.

By ensuring active participation of citizens and engaging communities to contribute towards the greater good, both organisations have fortified India's resilience significantly.

As we strive to realise the collective vision of building Viksit Bharat by 2047, the role of our first responders and community mobilisers continues to be important to ensure safer and more empowered communities.

On this momentous occasion, I also encourage all members of the Civil Defence and Home Guards to leverage emerging technologies and strengthen our capacity to address rapidly evolving challenges while building a safer and stronger nation.

Heartiest congratulations and best wishes to all members of the Civil Defence and Home Guards fraternity on the occasion.

May the 62nd annual day celebrations be a huge success.

(Narendra Modi)
